Protecting individuals' personal data is an integral part of protecting their life and dignity. This is why personal data protection is of fundamental importance for humanitarian organizations operating in armed conflicts (and other situations of violence). This event aims at tackling the issue in light of developments in new technologies such as the refinement of artificial intelligence, the increasing use of block-chain, the expectation of constant connectivity, and the role of social media.

MODERATOR

- Robin Geiss, Professor of International Law and Security and Director of the Glasgow Centre for International Law and Security, University of Glasgow

PANELISTS

- Vincent Graf, Strategic Technology Advisor, International Committee of the Red Cross
- Carmela Troncoso, Tenure Track Assistant Professor at the École Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne
- Ana Beduschi, Senior Lecturer in Law at the University of Exeter and Visiting Research Fellow at the Geneva Academy
